at a glance. And thanks to the power reserve indicator (917 GR model), designed to resemble a fuel gauge, you can be sure that your chronograph is 100% reliable. In addition to technological sophistication, both models offer the robust reliability of a mechanical watch: shockproof and anti-magnetic, with a solid stainless steel case and the freedom from fogging that only the special Ar® dehumidifying technology from SINN can ensure. All in all, this new watch is perfectly suited for use in road rallies as well as any other situation.
