Sinn Spezialuhren is expanding its traditional 103 series by presenting the 103 A Sa B. The classic pilot chronograph is limited to 500 pieces and boasts a blue electroplated dial with sunburst decoration and silver electroplated counters.

The technological features of the watch demonstrate its suitability for everyday use. For example, Ar-Dehumidifying Technology guarantees increased functional reliability and freedom from fogging, and the captive pilot's bezel with minute ratcheting features a luminous triangular main marker. Indices and the stopwatch hour, minute and seconds hands are coated with luminous paint, which enables perfect readability – even at night. The chronograph features a polished stainless-steel case and sapphire crystal glass, which is also used for the transparent back. The watch is resistant to low pressure, pressure-resistant up to 20 bar, shock-resistant and anti-magnetic.

Being an exclusive edition, the 103 A Sa B is limited to 500 pieces. To match the blue electroplated dial, the watch comes with a blue cowhide strap with alligator embossing and white contrasting stitching as well as an grey textile strap as part of a set in a fine case. This allows the wearer to change the strap to suit the occasion or purpose.
